Square 9 Presents Encompass 2015 End User & Reseller Conference, Changing the Direction of Your Business

Anticipated Conference Debut to Offer Innovative Product Launches and Multi-Track Education

NEW HAVEN, CONN., October 20, 2015 – Developer of award winning Business Process Automation solutions, Square 9® Softworks presents the highly anticipated premiere of Encompass 2015 End User & Reseller Conference, being held in Clearwater Beach, FL from October 20-23.

With progressive vision into the direction of Enterprise Content Management (ECM), Square 9 welcomes its dedicated dealer channel and their customers to Encompass, a conference unlike any traditional industry event. Designed with a unique rhythm and flow, offering intimate, interactive experiences, Encompass enables attendees to learn how to build a better business by leveraging Square 9's solutions and resources to their full potential.

Encompass is set to bring industry-changing excitement through pioneering product launches of Square 9's latest innovations. While receiving free certifications in several areas of process automation technology, attendees will be the first to witness Square 9's updated solutions portfolio, including new developments in data capture, workflow, business process automation, reporting analytics and other new features aimed at developing more efficient business practices.

One of the conference's most highly anticipated events is the exclusive introduction of Square 9's ground-breaking business process automation workflow engine in the web, GlobalAction. The GlobalAction Process Management Engine represents a significant change in direction for Square 9 and the industry, for both document centric workflow and business process automation.

Encompass attendees will experience a number of helpful and intuitive high-level speaking presentations with inspiring focus on attaining optimal business efficiency. General Track sessions provide the chance to hear about Square 9's culture and ongoing vision for the future of ECM, as well as exclusive industry knowledge that can't be found elsewhere. Encompass also presents an Education & Certification Track, a fast moving series of courses to enhance the understanding of both products and processes. These sessions are intended for individuals looking to get more out of their investment in SmartSearch through a deeper dive into available functionalities, and how they can be applied.

In an ongoing effort to educate channel resellers on how to build a successful solutions portfolio, Square 9 is offering a diverse variety of Business Development sessions, ranging from marketing assistance and building a Professional Services practice, to better understanding the opportunities the cloud has to offer. A Technical Presentation Track will also be available to benefit both channel resellers and customers with a wide range of technical topics, including database design and integration strategies, along with sessions specific to new functionality found in Square 9's latest product release.

Complementing Technical Track sessions, Encompass offers a Solutions Test Drive room and Smart Bar room, staffed with the Square 9 technical team to answer questions, discuss solutions, give product demos and get the SmartSearch 4.3 release preloaded on attendee machines. Unlike any typical event, Square 9 developers will be on hand to present programming & non-programming methodologies for each custom application.

"Encompass presents an opportunity for customers to better understand our company, our products and vision moving forward," said Stephen Young, President & CEO, Square 9 Softworks. "The conference is keenly focused on the introduction of innovative, new browser-based products that are powerful, more extensible solutions maintaining the flexibility and ease of use our end-users expect."
