Square 9® Softworks and KYOCERA Document Solutions America Introduce the Kyocera Square 9 Connector

New Kyocera Square 9 Connector for HyPAS-enabled MFPs Simplifies Document Processes, Streamlining Workflows

NEW HAVEN, CONN., October 11, 2016 – Square 9 Softworks, developer of award-winning Business Process Management solutions, and KYOCERA Document Solutions America, one of the world's leading document solutions companies, today together announced the introduction of the Kyocera Square 9 Connector.

This business application allows any HyPAS-enabled Kyocera multifunctional product (MFP) to serve as a gateway to the powerful GlobalSearch® Enterprise Content Management (ECM) system.

The Kyocera Square 9 Connector provides a real-time capture solution where users can scan paper documents directly into existing Square 9 workflows, capture images, extract high value data, notify users of a pending workflow activity, and search and print archived documents directly from the MFP control panel.

"For both companies, the goal is to continually develop ways to simplify the day-to-day experience of managing documents," said Doug Cole, director, Product Marketing at KYOCERA Document Solutions America. "This app is a direct result of that shared vision."

With the connector, Integration into Square 9's Data XChange allows users to quickly and easily enter index-field meta-data from the MFP control panel that can then be shared within GlobalSearch database tables or common business applications, increasing productivity and streamlining collaboration between programs.

"This Square 9 Connector application makes both Kyocera MFPs and our ECM platform more powerful," said Ethan Voltolini, Marketing Director at Square 9 Softworks. "Enabling real-time capture at the MFP saves time, improves collaboration and is a great benefit for our end user community using Kyocera machines."

Together, Kyocera and Square 9 aim to extend business efficiency by presenting an exceptional opportunity that provides Resellers and their clients with one of the most powerful, user-friendly end-to-end ECM solutions on the market today.
