The Must Attend Education Sessions of Encompass 2018

Square 9's Encompass Conference is only one month away, but that hasn't stopped our team from enhancing the education being offered so you get the most value from attending! The Encompass 2018 Education Program has been developed to provide unique, multi-track learning that empowers you with new skills to manage business information with ease. As attendees start to plan out their conference schedules, we've provided a list of the most highly anticipated, must attend conference courses based on interest and style of learning. Regardless of which sessions you choose, each Encompass course will offer high value ECM software education that explores best practices to accelerate your business efficiency and solutions expertise.

Take a look at my course recommendations for this year's conference!

BootCamp Series

To create a more profitable and relevant business, it is essential to keep your technical skills up-to-date with today's dynamic information management solutions. Expanding your software expertise is very important, not only to stay on top of the latest technologies, but also for personal development. With multi-tier class offerings, the bootcamp series enables attendees to focus on all aspects of a particular solution to fully understand the ins-and-outs, from beginner's administration to technical automation.

GlobalCapture® Basics and Best Practices
Thursday Oct. 4th, 4:00PM
With such an easy to use designer and powerful options for capturing data off the page, there are many ways to approach a capture automation project. But wouldn't you like to reduce the time and expense of doing so by knowing the right way? Our team will start by reviewing the basics of each component in the GlobalCapture designer and how they come together to process document pages. From there we'll share the tried and true best practices we've developed over hundreds of projects so you have a solid foundation to begin building from.
