

Managing Information Can Be Hard

We Make it Easy

In today's fast-paced business world, decisions depend on timely, accurate information. But before you can act, you need access. That's where Square 9's generative AI tool, InquireAI, comes in. Built to streamline how your organization works with data, InquireAI transforms the way you access, extract, and activate information so that you can move from insight to action faster than ever before.

Free Your Capture Process With Help From Generative AI

With our generative AI tool, InquireAI, we identify the information you need by extracting high value information from any document, including printed, handwritten, and PDF files.

Digitize Documents from any source, including emails, scanned images, Office Documents, and even handwritten forms.

Eliminate Costs associated with template creation for more affordable implementation and improved business scalability.

Automate Extraction by making your capture process part of a larger workflow & sharing data with other financial applications.

Reduce Errors by effortlessly extracting typically challenging data points such as headers, footers, and even line item data.

Try InquireAI by submitting your sample documents to our secure trial portals. Learn more about our solution extracting high-value data from any document including handwritten information at square-9.com/inquireai
